

Technical Information

June 11, 1997

Revision

We are sending out this revision to clarify a statement issued in the Technical Information Update dated April 16th, 1997. The title of the update was “New Notice Assists Residents in Keeping More of What They Earn,” and it covered HUD Notice H96-36, “Exclusion of Income Received Under Training Programs in Multifamily Housing Programs.”

We would like to clarify the following statement taken from that Technical Information Update: “Residents who find jobs related to training they receive at Neighborhood Networks may exclude the new income for the purpose of calculating rent.”

It is important to clarify that the new income may be excluded for the purpose of calculating rent ONLY during the period of training. This includes training received through a Neighborhood Networks Center, or any other program for which residents earn income while being trained.

For the complete text of HUD Notice H96-36, please refer to the attachment that accompanied the Technical Information Update of April 16th, 1997.